Implementation of the Framework
Agreement on the Sava River Basin

Country: Serbia

Date: 08. 03. 2011.

Executive Summary

Template (1)

(a) Overall status and trends in implementation of the FASRB on national level
Please provide your perspective and view below.
From the establishment of Sava Commission representatives of Ministries and other institutions and organizations responsible for the issues covered by FASRB participate in activities of Commission and Expert Groups. These activities become integral part of activities of those subjects.
(b) Key actions taken in support of the FASRB's objectives in its two basic fields – water management and navigation
Please provide your perspective and view below.
Ministries established Coordination group for the support of implementation of FASRB that support work of Member and Deputy Member of Sava Commission and members of Expert Groups.
(c) Areas where national implementation has been most effective and/or most lacking
Please provide your perspective and view below.
(d) Major obstacles encountered in implementation
Please provide your perspective and view below.
Human and financial capacity are not adequate for activities. Legislation is not yet fully harmonized with Eu acquis.
(e) Future priorities and Policy Recommendations
Please provide your perspective and view below.
It is necessary to establish same level of liability for water management issues (water use, water protection and protection from water), as for navigation issues.
(f) Any other issues of importance not included in a) – e)
Please provide your perspective and view below.

Water law is adopted. Regulations and by laws are under preparation. In accordance with Water Law, by laws, Strategie and River basin Management Plans will be prepared and adopted by the end of 2012.

The Regulation on limit values of priority and priority hazardous substances that pollute surface water and deadlines for reaching of the values, prepared by the Ministry of Environment and Spatial Planning is under adoption procedure. This Regulation shall more precisely prescribe: conditions for assessment of pollution related to priority substances; environmental quality standards related to surface water pollution with priority substances; environmental quality standards for chosen priority substances and manner of their revision; manner of implementation of monitoring of priority substances in surface waters. In addition, the Regulation on limit values of pollutants emissions into water and time limits for reaching of the values, also prepared by the Ministry of Environment and Spatial Planning is under preparation. This Regulation prescribes limit values for certain groups or categories of pollutants for technological waste waters before their discharge into sewage; for technological and other waste waters that are directly discharged into recipient; for waters that are after treatment discharged from the public sewage system into recipient and for waste waters discharged into recipient from septic tanks and collecting wells. The adoption of these two regulations which will provide for sustainable water management, is planned in the first quarter of 2011.
